Charleville is home base for Queensland Bilbies

FACTBOX

Did you know...

The Greater Bilby is listed as endangered in Queensland with potentially as few as 400 to 600 animals remaining in the wild.

Save the Bilby Fund manages Charleville's breeding population of bilbies, which is critical to the species' National Recovery Plan. These bilbies can contribute to future releases to the wild to build up declining remnant subpopulations throughout the species' current and former range.

The Charleville Bilby Experience offers unique opportunities to learn about these fascinating marsupials, meet endangered bilbies and to see them in their impressive, redeveloped nocturnal exhibit. We will also share the inspirational story of the 'Charleville Bilby Brothers' and how they founded Save the Bilby Fund and brought the plight of one of Australia's threatened marsupials to the attention of the nation.

Why not book into one of our 'Up Close and Personal' or 'Bilby Experience' tours and help save the bilbies.
